

Women's Legacy Award HONORING AGGIE WOMEN

Sue Redman '80 is an Executive Professor in the Accounting Department of Mays Business School at Texas A&M University. She is also the President of Redman Advisors LLC, a private consulting firm specializing in the areas of enterprise risk management, corporate finance, accounting and strategy. Sue's career has included financial, operational, academic and executive experience in the corporate, consulting, health care, not-for-profit and education sectors.

Ms. Redman was a Director of Apollo Group, Inc. from 2006 - 2013. She was the chair of the Audit Committee, member of the Finance Committee, member of the Special Litigations Committee and member of the Compensation Committee of the Board of Directors of Apollo Group, Inc., a publicly-held education provider with annual revenues of $4 billion and traded on NASDAQ. As Audit Committee Chair, she was instrumental in enhancing corporate governance and overseeing enterprise risk management initiatives. She is the author of several audit committee and governance articles, including "What Qualities Make a Sound Financial Expert" (published in Compliance Week) and "A First Step in Audit Committee Effectiveness" (published in Directors and Boards.)

From 2004 to 2008, Sue was the Senior Vice President and Chief Financial Officer/Chief Operating Officer of Texas A&M University, the nation's seventh largest university with an operating budget of $1.2 billion. Sue provided comprehensive oversight of the financial operations of the university and led the non-academic operations (Restaurant and Food Service Operations, Parking, Transportation and Logistics).

From 1999 to 2004, Sue was the Vice President and Corporate Controller of AdvancePCS, a leading provider of health improvement services, including pharmacy benefit management services with annual revenues of $14 billion and traded on NASDAQ. She led an accounting and finance organization comprised of Accounting Reporting and Analysis; Client Profitability (Informatics); Trade Finance; Specialty Pharmacy Finance; Taxes; Strategic Sourcing and Procurement; Financial Operations; External and SEC Reporting.

From 1980 to 1999, Sue served as Lead Engagement Partner at PricewaterhouseCoopers for a number of key multinational and national clients, including retail, energy, engineering and construction and private equity. She performed annual audits and quarterly reviews, and advised and assisted in numerous SEC filings and public offerings. She also provided M&A services, including assistance with due diligence, feasibility studies and analyses.

Sue earned a Bachelor of Business Administration in accounting from Texas A&M University and is a Certified Public Accountant in Texas, Arizona and California. She is a member of the AICPA, National Association of Corporate Directors, Women Corporate Directors and the Southwest Audit Committee Network, a corporate governance network convened by Tapestry Networks. In 1999, she was recognized as one of Arizona's Top 100 Women in Business. Sue is also a director and co-founder of Women Former Students' Network, a not-for-profit organization that supports Texas A&M University. As part of the WFSN, Sue oversaw with Carol Jordan '80 the creation of the WFSN Women's Legacy Fund which completed its first President's Endowed Scholarships and secured gifts and pledges to complete a second scholarship. She was awarded Proclamation in 2010 by the President of Texas A&M University recognizing her accomplishments in founding the Women Former Students' Network.
